

Butch Harmon About Golf - DVD Set

Written by BRUNO

In Butch Harmon About Golf, Mr. Harmon shares his lifetime of golf knowledge in a two DVD set that covers everything from the basic fundamentals, all the way to how to shape shots. The set has over 250 specific tips and 57 chapters, plus a section on the many tour pros that he has taught over the years.

In section 2 titled Faults, Cures and Drills, Butch covers some of the more frustrating elements of the game, such as: topped shots, hitting it fat, shanks and anger management.

The 4 hour DVD set which was produced by award winning ABC sports producer

Terry Jastrow, is so comprehensive that it even has a chapter on women, juniors and seniors.

Butch, the son of former Masters Champion and legendary teaching professional

Claude Harmon, believes that you don't teach a system to golfers, you enhance what their natural strengths are. In a recent conference call, Butch was asked if he thought the modern player was as good as the legends his father played with and taught. Harmon was quick to quote golf legend Ben Hogan, when Hogan was asked the same question:

Are today's players better than your generation? Hogan replied "If there not, than we're not doing a very good job of teaching them".

Section 7 - "From Good to Great" was by far my favorite part of the DVD set, in this section Butch sits down with 9 of the finest tour professionals that he has taught. The conversations with Greg Norman, Phil Mickelson and Ernie Els are riveting. Other tour

pros in this section are Adam Scott, Natalie Gulbis, Fred Couples, Dustin Johnson, Nick Watney, and Tiger Woods.

When the best instructor in the game comes out with a program this extensive, it's a wealth of knowledge that every golfer should have.
